

James Goold House
P.O.Box 146
East Melbourne Vic 8002
Australia

16th May, 2008.

Dear Friends,

For the past eighteen years the Missionaries of God's Love have lived and worked in the Archdiocese of Melbourne. Their energy and apostolic zeal have brought a freshness to the teaching of the Gospel here, in Canberra and in Darwin.

The Missionaries are a vibrant, energetic group, radically committed to living the Gospel and they have already achieved great success in attracting young people to study for the priesthood and to be part of their parish and Eucharistic centres. Their seminarians are studying at Catholic Theological College, East Melbourne.

At present they have fourteen seminarians, a staff of three priests, and eight prospective candidates. There is an urgent need to construct a building suitable for the seminarians to reside in at Burwood so that the partnership between the Missionaries and the Archdiocese will continue.

They will need to raise $1,000,000.00 to construct an appropriate religious house. I am writing this letter to endorse their presence in the Archdiocese, their generous effort to make urgent provision for their students, and to support any generosity which you may be able to exercise in helping one of the new and vibrant bodies in the Church.

With every good wish,

Yours sincerely in Christ,

ARCHBISHOP OF MELBOURNE.